

INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Acta Antiqua publishes original research papers, review articles and book reviews in the field of ancient studies. It covers the field of history, literature, philology and material culture of the Ancient East, the Classical Antiquity and, to a lesser part, of Byzantium and medieval Latin studies, and the reception of the culture of Classical Antiquity. Papers are accepted on the understanding that they have not been published or submitted for publication elsewhere and that they are subject to peer review. Papers accepted for publication by the editorial board are subject to editorial revision. A copy of the Publishing Agreement will be sent to the authors of papers accepted for publication. Manuscripts will be processed only after receiving the signed copy of the agreement.

Permissions. It is the responsibility of the author to obtain written permission for quotations, and for the reprinting of illustrations or tables.

Submission of manuscripts

Acta Antiqua prefers electronic submission of manuscripts. Manuscripts should be sent via e-mail using any format of Word for Windows (.doc, .docx or .rtf) or LibreOffice and (to eliminate any problem of transfiguration) a .pdf-version to the Email address acta.antiqua.hung@gmail.com.

Presentation of manuscripts

Manuscripts should be written in clear, concise, and grammatically correct English, French, German, Italian, Latin or Spanish.

Title page. The title should be concise and informative. This is preceded by the first name(s) and surname of the author(s). The name of the institution the author works at and the exact mailing address of the author should be given at the end of the paper.

Authors are requested

- to use footnotes to be inserted to the electronic file of the study;
- not to give bibliography at the end of the paper and to refer to it, but to quote works in the footnotes;
- not to write op. cit. and the like, but to give the number of the footnote where the work was first mentioned in round brackets after the name of the author, then the page(s) referred to, e.g. Smith (n. 12) 18–21;
- when referring to books or cyclopaedias, to give the number of the volume quoted in Roman numerals;
- when referring to cyclopaedias, to arrange data as follows:
name of the author, in, title of the cyclopaedia (abbreviated, if possible), number of volume, year of publication in parentheses, number of pages or column(s), comma, s.v. title of the article, e.g. Ed. Schwartz in RE I (1894) 2868, s.v. Apollodoros;
- when referring to papers in periodicals, to arrange data as follows:
name of the author, colon, title of the paper, period, title of the periodical abbreviated as in l'Année Philologique, number of the volume quoted in Arabic numerals, year of publication in parentheses, number of pages from-to (avoid, please, references, like 125 ff. or passim), e.g. J. Harmatta: The Language of the Southern Sakas. Acta Ant. Hung. 32 (1989) 299–307;
- when quoting Greek and Roman authors, collections of fragments, papyri, etc., to use the abbreviations of Liddell-Scott-Jones and of Oxford Latin Dictionary, resp.;
- not to give long titles to the articles, if possible;
- to return proofs corrected as soon as possible. If the editors do not receive sheets within a reasonable time, the text will be corrected on the basis of the manuscript, but they decline all responsibility for mistakes due to the original manuscript.
