Instructions for Authors

AIMS AND SCOPE

HERJ HUNGARIAN EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH JOURNAL is an academic journal focusing on contemporary ideas and themes in educational research. Its mission is to provide a forum for emerging researchers as well as established scholars to exchange their research results, views and opinions on education, educational policy and research. Working for this mission, HERJ advocates a world-wide comparative approach.

HERJ publishes thematic issues and book reviews four times a year (March, June, October, December). It welcomes proposals for new thematic issues as well as high quality theoretical and empirical studies.

EDITORIAL BOARD INFORMATION

HERJ was founded in 2011 by the Hungarian Educational Research Association (Magyar Nevelés- és Oktatóskutatók Egyesülete). Before 2019 it had been published by Debrecen University Press \(DUPress\). Its current publisher is Akadémiai Kiadó, Budapest, Hungary.

EDITORIAL BOARD

HERJ is handled by an independent Editorial Board of autonomous scholars. Free from any external influence, they decide about the journal's policies in general, and – based on the outcome of a peer review – about the acceptance of papers in each concrete case. The names and affiliations of the Editorial Board members can be found on the journal's web page.

PEER REVIEW CHARGE

No peer review charge applies.

REVIEW PROCESS

REVIEW OF THE MANUSCRIPTS

HERJ uses a single blind peer review process on manuscripts to ensure both rigor and expediency. In this type of review process, the reviewers' identities are not revealed (while reviewers are aware of the authors' identities).

Unpublished results are treated strictly confidentially.

INITIAL REVIEW

The editor-in-charge at HERJ makes a decision about whether the manuscript fits within the scope and guidelines of HERJ, constitutes original research, and warrants a full, peer review. If the decision is negative, the editor-in-charge will reject the submission and will contact the author by email of this decision. This usually takes at most two working days.

FULL REVIEW

If the editor-in-charge's initial review decision is positive, a single blind review will be conducted. The editor-in-charge will acquire at least two reviews. Authors may suggest reviewers (with contact information) during the submission process. Reviewers normally have 14 days to complete their review. Based on the reviews, the editor-in-charge decides if a minor revision (minor revisions required) or a major revision (resubmit for review) is requested from the author. In the latter case the full review cycle will be repeated.

Furthermore, if the manuscript does not fully adhere to the formatting requirements detailed in the HERJ Article Template available at the journals site on the publisher's platform, the author will be requested to amend the formatting of her/his manuscript.

ACCEPTANCE

Once the editor-in-charge is satisfied with the changes requested, the manuscript will be accepted. Only very rarely will a manuscript be accepted without any revision.

REVISE AND RESUBMIT

If changes are required before being accepted to HERJ, the author is expected to revise and resubmit the manuscript in order to be considered for acceptance. Authors are requested to prepare and upload a point-by-point response in the submission system and highlight (with tracked changes/ coloured/ underlines/ highlighted text) all changes made when revising the manuscript. The manuscript will be sent back to the original reviewer(s) as part of a second round of reviews. The author will receive the reviewer's comments.

REJECT

The manuscript may be rejected after the first or a later round of full review. While naturally a disappointment, HERJ hopes that the authors will appreciate the importance of a rigorous review process to ensure both scholarly rigor and practitioner relevance.
